

NOVA SCOTIAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE

Student Science Writing and Video Competition 2011

Video Release Form

Dear _____,

You have been asked to participate in a video that will be submitted to the Nova Scotia Institute of Science (NSIS) 2011 Science Writing and Video Competition. This competition is jointly supported by the Halifax node of the Situating Science Knowledge Cluster (SSKC-H). NSIS and SSKC-H are committed to scientific and academic excellence and encourage informed reflective engagement with, and within, the sciences.

The video-maker(s) seeks your permission to record your contribution and include it in her/his video submission for the video competition. Do note that the video-maker(s) reserves the right to edit your contributions with the purpose to creating a competitive video for the competition, though she/he will not purposefully misrepresent your views or present you in a demeaning manner.

NSIS reserves the right to post the winning entry on the internet as part of their dissemination of NSIS sponsored events and competitions. As with all of the content on the NSIS website, should the video be posted on the internet it will be offered free of charge and will not be used for commercial gain.

If at any time you wish to revoke your permission, simply contact the video-maker(s) or – should the video be already posted after the competition – contact NSIS by e-mail at nsis@chebucto.ns.ca, and the relevant individual(s) will remove your content as soon as possible.

Sincere thanks,

I have read and understood this form in its entirety, and hereby give permission to record my contribution to their video and NSIS permission to post the video should it win the competition.
