Subject: First Lake

Hello.

I just left a message on your voice mail, but I thought I might try e-mail as well. I have a column in the Daily News and wrote about The Friends of First Lake Society last week. It was meant to be an up-beat story about the hard work people in the community have done to bring the lake back from the brink of disaster. Unfortunately thanks to some poor editing choices, it came across as though the lake was very polluted. I've had phone calls from unhappy homeowners on the lake and would like to make amends in my next column. I am looking for a quote from a professional and would also like a clear definition of pollution and what it means with regards to our lake. If you could help me out I would greatly appreciate it. If you are unable, perhaps you could forward me on to someone who can.

Thank you.
